

The Columbus Democrat.

H. H. WORRINGTON,

A STRICT ADHERENCE TO THE LETTER AND SPIRIT OF THE CONSTITUTION—THE ONLY SAFEGUARD OF THE SOUTH.

VOL. XVIII.

THE DEMOCRAT

Is published every Saturday Morning.

Terms.

IF SUBSCRIPTION—Three Dollars each year; payment is delayed until the expiration of the year.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at One Dollar per page, (one-half or less) for the first and Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

Advertisers will be made to persons who advertise by the year.

JOB PRINTING.

JOB PRINTING neatly executed, on short notice and at moderate rates.

CARDS.

w. h. cARRINGTON, THOMAS CHRISTIAN,
CARRINGTON & CHRISTIAN,
Attorneys & Commissioners at Law,
COLUMBUS, MISS.

s. w. SWANSON, w. w. WIER,
SWANSON & WIER,
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
Mobile, Ala.

At West extend the usual facilities to their planting friends and the public.—May 10, '51—13½.

DR. A. N. JONES

Has removed his office to the shore of Tappahon & Whitfield, unincorporated, where he would be pleased to see his friends, where any message left for him will be promptly attended to.—Columbus October 19, '50.

16—47

DR. THOS. N. LOVE

RESPECTFULLY offers his professional services to the citizens of Columbus and vicinity and hopes by close attention to business to merit a share of their patronage. He may be found at all times, without any where else, at his office or residence, both in the business with the City Hall, on the public square of its formerly occupied by M. L. Howard.

D. W. SPILLMAN.

HAS moved his office to the South side of Main Street, in the building occupied by George Faxon, Dry Goods Store, where he will be pleased to see his friends and customers, and as many new ones may be induced to call. He has had a great success in such business as are generally needed in the country. All business transacted by him will be scrupulous care and general.

Columbus, Miss., Jan. 3, 1851.—23—7.

NOTICE.

WRCDF. & CO. offer our subscribers agents.—Persons who are induced to Waco, Tex. & Columbus, will find there more and more opportunities. Any one having claims against will receive prompt attention from W. C. Muller.

W. C. MULLER,
Columbus, Nov. 15, '50.

17—47

GEO. G. MILLAY.

Factor & Commission Merchant,
Corner of Exchange and Commerce Sts.,
Mobile.

Mr. Miller, Hon. Geo. H. Clayton, Columbus,
Col. Joseph H. Coffey, Miss.
Col. Geo. G. Harris,
Col. Geo. H. Young, Waverly,
Jan. 10, 1851.—28—5.

NOTICE.

M. W. HOWELL, offers services to the citizens of Lawrence County as a General Agent and Collector.

and will attend strictly to the collection of all notes and accounts that may be entrusted to his care, and will attend to them as directed by the claimants, and will attend to the renting of houses, and taking notes and collecting the money on the same, at his usual commissions. He will also attend to business in the adjoining counties if pay will justify.

He respectfully tendered his thanks to his friends for their patronage extended to him heretofore, and solicits a continuance of the same.

Columbus, Oct. 15th, 1851.—6m.

NOTICE.

Hotel For Rent.
THE UNIVERSITY HOTEL, at Oxford, Miss., will be rented to a good landlord, for one or more years, on reasonable terms. The Hotel is completely furnished, and contains thirty-six rooms, all elegantly furnished. There is a large brick stable on the premises. For particulars apply to the undersigned at Oxford, Mississippi.

PRICE & BARRINGEN,
Nov. 20, 1851.—22—3.

Proprietors.

H. WELCH & CO.,

Carriage Dealers.

(Between Court and Government Streets.)

NOTICE.

A RE receiving a large and entirely new stock of Carriages, which, we trust, will be approved paper, they intend setting at us how rates was ever known in Mobile.

Mobile, Nov. 4, 1851.—19—5m.

S. S. FITCHE'S

VALUABLE Medicines for Coughs, Colds Consumption and Female Disease—always on hand. Also, his original

ABDOMINAL SUPPORTER, that has been patented only six months, and has already demonstrated its superior

SHOULDER BRACES. The only genuine articles are to be found at the Drug Store of

JAS. BLAIR, Sole Agent.

Feb. 8, 1851.—n—21—y.

ROBERT DESHA & CO.

Commission Merchants,

Mobile, Ala.

G. A. CHANDLER, Agent.

Columbus, Miss.

I HAVE a large supply of Bagging and Rebag

hand, at cost and charges.

G. A. CHANDLER,

All Cotton shipped to the above House, in the name

G. A. Chandler, on account of the real owner, will be insured.

September 7, 1850.

10—47

TENNESSEE OSAUBURG.—14 Heavy

Shutters—3-4 and 7-8 Drills for sale by

HABEN & LEAD.

POETRY.

THE SOUNDS OF INDUSTRY.

I hear the barking banner,
The clattering of the plane,
The crackling of the hay-wax,
The creaking of the crane,
The ringing of the anvil,
The grating of the drill,
The clattering of the hammer,
The whirring of the mill,
The hissing of the spindles,
The rattling of the loom,
The puffing of the engine,
And the fan's continual boom,
The clapping of the tailor's shears,
The driving of the nail,
The sounds of busy labor—

I hear, I hear them all.

* * * * *

For they tell my longing spirit
Of the eagerness of life—
How much of all its happiness
Comes out of toll and strife,
Not that you are strict and stern,
And unmerciful on the way—

Not that red soil soils that springlets,
Beneath a tyrant's sway,
Not that toll and strife that springlets
From a free and willing heart—

A strife which ever lengthens

To the strives all its part.

* * * * *

JOHN RANDOLPH'S DEATH BED SCENE.

The following is an extract from the life of John Randolph of Roanoke, by Hugh A. Garland, which has just been published:

Next morning the play on which he died, Dr.

Randolph received an early and urgent message to visit him. Several persons were in the room, but save for him, except his son John, who was much affected at the sight of the dying master. Dr. Deane remained by him. "I have seen your master very low before, and he revived, and goes back again," said John. "John, knows better than that sir." He then looked at the doctor with great intensity, and said, in an earnest and direct manner, "I consider every disposition in my wife, especially that respecting my slaves, whom I have manumitted, and for whom I have made provision."

"I am replied to hear such a declaration from you sir," replied the doctor and soon after proposed to leave him for a short time, to attend to another patient. "You must go sir," said the ready—"You cannot, yet shall not leave me." Randolph said that the doctor did not deserve him, but that he could not let him go. John, even looked at the doctor, and replied, "Master, I have helped the doctor out just the key to my pocket; the doctor won't go now." Dr. Deane replied, "If your master goes, I will go with him." The Doctor intended to leave him, but said, "I will go with you." John said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging myself to another person." His master, too, fully understood his feelings, and said, "Sir, I retract what I said." "Now then, all friends, turning away with grieved hearts, thought it to be seen no man whom he could be left to his own devices, but John, who was in the house, said, "I will go with him." John, then said, "I am only anxious of discharging